

SCHOOL BOARD

BOARD MEMBER DEVELOPMENT

- I. The School Board recognizes that in-service training programs and self-study are essential to effective boardsmanship.
- II. The Board recognizes that sound decisions are based upon well-researched studies as well as workshops, informational meetings, and prior experiences.
- III. The Board recognizes that the process of self evaluation and evaluation by others is essential for personal and professional growth.
- IV. The Board recognizes that a well-informed board not only improves community relations, it also stimulates positive and progressive attitudes about education in general.
- V. The Board therefore strongly supports any and all individual and collective efforts by board members to improve and enhance their understanding and application of school board roles and functions.
